REGULATORY APPENDIX

This section refers to the main regulations mentioned in the contract, so that the Policyholder may better understand the legal references.

ITALIAN CIVIL CODE

Art. 1341 - General Conditions of Contract

General Conditions, prepared by one of the Parties, are binding on the other party if known by the latter at the time when the contract was concluded or if the might have known thereof by using ordinary diligence.

Nevertheless, the following conditions have no effect, unless specifically approved in writing: conditions limiting the liability of the party who has prepared the general conditions or giving said party a power to withdraw from the contract or to suspend the execution thereof. Conditions burdening the other party with time limits for the exercise of the right or limitations to such party's power to raise defences, or with restrictions on freedom of contract with third parties, or with tacit extension or renewal of the contract; clauses providing for arbitration or derogation from the normal venue or jurisdiction of the courts.

Art. 1342 - Contract concluded by means of standardised forms or templates

In those contracts concluded through the signing of standardised forms or templates, drawn up to regulate certain contractual relationships in a consistent manner, clauses added to the standardised form or templates prevail over those of the standardised form or template whenever they are incompatible with them, even if the latter have not been deleted.

Furthermore, the second paragraph of the previous article is also observed.

Art. 1455 - Importance of non-fulfilment

The contract may not be terminated if the non-fulfilment of one of the parties is of little importance, having regard to the interest of the other.

Art. 1892 - Inaccurate and incomplete declarations without wilful misconduct or serious negligence

The inaccurate and incomplete declarations by the Policyholder, relating to circumstances such that the insurer would not have given his consent or would not have given it under the same conditions if he had known the true state of things, are grounds for cancellation of the contract when the Policyholder acted with wilful misconduct or serious negligence.

The insurer loses the right to challenge the contract if, within three months from the day on which it became aware of the inaccuracy or incompleteness of the declaration, it fails to declare to the Policyholder that it wishes to appeal.

The insurer is entitled to the premiums related to the insurance period in progress at the time the cancellation was requested and, in any case, to the premium agreed for the first year. If the claim occurs before the term indicated in the previous paragraph has expired, it is not required to pay the insured amount.

If the insurance covers several people or more things, the contract is valid for those people or things to which the inaccurate or incomplete declaration does not refer.

Art. 1893 - Inaccurate and incomplete declarations without wilful misconduct or serious negligence

If the Policyholder has acted without wilful misconduct or serious negligence, inaccurate and incomplete declarations are not a cause for cancellation of the contract, but the insurer can withdraw from the contract itself, by means of a declaration to be made to the Insured Party within three months from the day on which has known the inaccuracy or incompleteness of the declaration.

If the claim occurs before the inaccuracy or incompleteness of the declaration is known by the insurer, or before the insurer has declared that it shall withdraw from the contract, the sum due is reduced in proportion to the difference between the agreed premium and what would have been applied if the true state of things had been known.

Art. 1894 - Insurance in the name of or on behalf of third parties

In the insurance in the name of or on behalf of third parties, if the latter are aware of the inaccuracy or incompleteness of the declarations relating to the risk, the provisions of Arts. 1892 and 1893 shall apply.

Art. 1898 - Worsening of the Risk

The Policyholder is obliged to immediately notify the insurer of the changes that worsen the risk in such a way that, if the new state of affairs had existed and had been known by the insurer at the time of the conclusion of the contract, the insurer would not have allowed the insurance or would have allowed it for a higher premium.

The insurer may withdraw from the contract by notifying the Insured Party in writing within one month of the day on which s/he received the notice or in any other way became aware of the worsening of the risk.

The insurer's withdrawal shall take immediate effect if the worsening is such that the insurer would not have allowed the insurance; it shall take effect after fifteen days, if the worsening of the risk is such that a higher premium would have been required for the insurance. The insurer is entitled to the premiums related to the insurance period in progress at the time the declaration of withdrawal is communicated.

If the claim occurs before the deadline for the communication and for the effectiveness of the withdrawal have elapsed, the insurer is not liable if the worsening of the risk is such that he would not have allowed the insurance if the new state of affairs had existed at the time of the contract; otherwise, the amount due shall be reduced, taking into account the ratio between the premium set forth in the contract and the one that would have been fixed if the greater risk had existed at the time of the contract.

Art. 1901 - Non-payment of the premium

If the Policyholder does not pay the premium or the first premium instalment established by the contract, the insurance shall remain suspended until midnight on the day on which the Policyholder pays the amount due.

If the Policyholder does not pay the subsequent premiums at the agreed deadlines, the insurance remains suspended from midnight on the fifteenth day after the deadline.

In the cases envisaged by the two preceding paragraphs, the contract is resolved by law if the insurer, within six months from the day on which the premium or the instalment has expired, does not act for collection; the insurer is only entitled to the payment of the premium related to the current insurance period and the reimbursement of expenses. This regulation does not apply to life insurance.

Art. 1913 - Obligations of the Insured Party in the event of a claim

The Insured Party must give notice of the accident to the insurer or agent authorised to conclude the contract, within three days from the day in which the accident occurred or of when the Insured Party became aware of it. Notification is not necessary if the insurer or the agent authorised to conclude the contract intervenes within the aforementioned end of the rescue operations or the claim event report.

In livestock mortality insurance, notice must be given within twenty-four hours, unless otherwise agreed.

Art. 1915 - Non-performance of the obligation of notification or rescue

The Insured Party who, maliciously, does not fulfil the obligation to notify or rescue loses the right to compensation.

If the Insured Party negligently omits to fulfil this obligation, the insurer has the right to reduce the indemnity owing to the injury suffered.

Art. 1916 - Insurer's right of subrogation

The insurer who paid the indemnity is surrogated, up to the amount paid, in the rights of the Insured Party towards responsible third parties. Except in the case of wilful misconduct, subrogation does not take place if the damage is caused by the children, ancestors, other relatives or kin of the Insured Party permanently living with him/her or by people sharing the household.

The Insured Party is liable to the insurer for any damage caused to the right of subrogation.

The provisions of this article also apply to insurance against workplace accidents and against accidental mishaps.

Art. 1917 - Civil liability insurance

In civil liability insurance (1) the insurer is obliged to indemnify and hold the Insured Party harmless as concerns what he/she has to pay to a third party as a result of the event during the insurance period, depending on the liability deducted in the contract. Damages deriving from malicious acts are excluded.

The insurer has the right, upon notification to the Insured Party, to pay the compensation due directly to the injured third party, and shall be obliged to make direct payment if requested by the Insured Party.

The expenses borne to oppose the legal proceedings of the injured party against the Insured Party shall be borne by the insurer up to a quarter of the insured amount. However, in the event that a sum greater than the insured amount shall be due to the injured party, the legal costs must be divided between the insurer and the Insured Party in proportion to the respective interest.

The Insured Party may, in agreement with the Injured Party, may take legal action against the insurer.

Art. 2114 - Compulsory social security and assistance

The special laws determine the cases and forms of compulsory pension and assistance and the related social security contributions and benefits.

Art. 2952 - Insurance prescription period

The right to the payment of the premium instalments expires one year after the individual deadlines.

The other rights deriving from the insurance contract lapse in two years from the day on which the fact on which the right is based arises, with the exception of the life insurance contract whose rights lapse in ten years.

In civil liability insurance, the term starts from the day on which the third party has requested compensation from the Insured Party or brought an action against him/her.

The communication to the insurer of the request of the injured third party or of the action proposed by this proposal interrupts the prescription period until the claim of the injured party can be paid off and become payable or the right of the injured third party is not expired.

The provision of the previous paragraph applies to the action taken by the Reinsured Party against the reinsurer for the payment of the indemnity.
